It could save your life!

DIAL 9-1-1 IN CASE OF AN EMERGENCY

It could save your life or someone you love!

What Is 9-1-1?

In the event of an emergency, do you know what to do? Today in most areas throughout North America, there is a universal emergency telephone number to call...9-1-1. This number will connect you to a central communications center where you can request assistance for police, fire, and a life threatening emergency.

What Do I Do if There's a Fire in My Home?

Do not use your telephone to call.
Stay low, get out of the house immediately and call from your neighbor's house or a pay phone. Remember that you can dial 9-1-1 from a pay phone for FREE.

And What Is Considered An Emergency?

"An event or occurrence demanding immediate action; or any condition endangering or thought to be endangering life or property." (From "Police Communications Guide for Dispatchers" by Alan Burton, Published by Dispatch Specialists, Medford, OR, 1984.) Also, some state legislators have included various definitions of "emergency" in their enactment of 9-1-1 laws.

Why Was The 9-1-1 System Created?

When a person is victimized or witnesses a criminal action, the feelings of anxiety are so overwhelming that trying to look up the phone number for the police can be an impossible task. Likewise, when a person has a sick child and does not know where to turn, or smells smoke in their home 9-1-1 can put them in touch with people who know what to do. The universal 9-1-1 system was created to assist children, the infirmed, senior citizens, and those who have problems with language.

9-1-1 Can Save Your Life

City, township and community logs are filled with incidents where people have helped save lives and property by dialing 9-1-1. Unfortunately there are many instances where 9-1-1 was dialed as a joke, a trivial or a nuisance call. In many areas, these calls accounts for majority of reports. Remember, dialing 9-1-1 is serious and calling unnecessarily can endanger someone else's life or property when they really do need help!
